

June 25

- Write about three ways you can show good sportsmanship when you play baseball.
- Sometimes hardworking people are called "busy bees." How do you think this saying started?

June 29

- In winter, children make snow pals and dress them in hats, scarves, and mittens. What kind of pal could you make in the summer, and how would you dress it?
- Pretend you're a baseball at a baseball game. What would you see?

June 26

- Imagine you threw a Frisbee* into the air and it kept going until you could no longer see it. Write about where it might have landed and what happened to it there.
- Would you rather sleep outside in a tent or inside in a bed? Why?

June 30

- Imagine you could plan your own summer camp. Write about the activities you would plan for the campers.
- If you could travel across the country, would you rather ride in a plane, train, or car? Why?

June 27

- On June 27, 1859, a schoolteacher wrote the tune for "Happy Birthday to You." If you could spend your birthday any way you like, what would you do? Write about your special celebration.
- Is it more important for a house to have air conditioning in the summer or heat in the winter? Why?

June 28

- Imagine you found a magic rubber ball. What games could you play with it?
- If you had only one ticket at a carnival, would you rather buy a snack, play a game, or go on a ride? Why?
